MAY SETTLE RAILWAY QUESTION

In a letter filed with the public utilities commission July 23 by the Oxford Electric Co. it was stated that the company does not expect to resume service on the Norway & Paris railway, but are willing to retire and dispose of that property with the franchise, provided the light and power business is not molested. The letter reads as follows:

Leviston, Maine, July 23, 1919
Public Utilities Commission, Augusta, Maine.

Gentlemen: In accordance with the suggestion contained in the order dated July 15, 1919, of your Honorable Commission in the matter of the Oxford Electric Co. and the Norway & Paris Railway, we desire to indicate to the Commission and to the citizens of Norway and Paris our intention to resume service on our Street Railway at any time and to desire to permanently abandon our service on the Norway & Paris Railway. We are willing to retire and dispose of that property with the franchise, provided the light and power business is not molested. The letter reads as follows:

This Company will, in so far as it may legally do so, without in any way interfering with or impairing its right or franchise to carry on its electric light and power business, transfer and assign without any consideration its railway franchise to any persons who are desirous of resuming service on the Norway & Paris Railway, and will surrender its said franchise to any other act that it may legally do in order that others may have a clear field to operate a street railway in said territory.

This Company is taking this method of indicating its position on the matter, and later on proposes to file a formal petition praying for authority to permanently abandon service.

Yours very truly,
William T. Cobb, President.

(Signed) William T. Cobb, President. Before officers of the latter were received by attorneys for the citizens of Norway and Paris, one of the attorneys for the petitioners sent the following communication to Mr. Gordon, general manager of the company. This communication was to untangle a complicated situation.

"The recent decision of the Public Utilities Commission appears to dead-lock the situation concerning the operation of the Norway and Paris Street Railway, and in the meantime there is a growing feeling of hostility which will inevitably impair the good will upon which the electric lighting business of your company must rest, if there is to be a continued success of that branch of the operation."

"Anticipating the possibility of a deadlock decision, and realizing the seriousness of the situation, both for the company and for your company, an effort has been made to put ourselves in touch with people who appear to be willing to take over the situation and operate such a company as would meet with the cordial co-operation and support of the consuming public. Representing such people as are interested in this feature of the matter in South Paris, I have made the following inquiries of you, as manager in control of the Norway and Paris Street Railway and of the lighting business for South Paris and Norway:

1. Will your company indicate within thirty days from this date whether or not it will retire from the transportation business in Norway and South Paris, and leave that field open to those who might wish to operate such a system?

2. Will your company indicate within thirty days from this date whether or not it is willing to sell its lighting business for these two communities, and will you quote cash price for the same?

If answers to the foregoing inquiries can be turned over by me to my clients they will undertake a good faith to look into the situation more thoroughly and will endeavor to meet you upon some proposition which will relieve the local situation. And I have suggested to them and it is agreeable to their purposes, to refer any matters of procedure or disputed points in such negotiations to the Public Utilities Commission."

Tigers 9; Pilgrims 2

Ward 8 Tigers set up a terrible growl in their last on lower Main street, Saturday afternoon. There was gnashing of teeth and showing of claws when they went into the jungle after the Pilgrims from Lewiston. Finally hitting LaFrance almost errorless support passed the game over to the Ward 8 fighters. The Pilgrims failed to connect with LaFrance and his delivery, so missed a golden chance to win the game when his two batters have been worth a Liberty bond at par.

A good crowd gathered at Ward 8 park and witnessed one of the best games played about here this summer. The Tigers lived up to their reputation as live ones so put across a exhibition of clean play, fast baseball. Their ability to hit was marked, and a Jeffrey show in the field was a surprise to those who had not followed their tricks since the team organized.

The Pilgrims brought into this burg a strong argument expiring to curb the tigers before they had a chance to spring. The Lewiston outfit underestimated the ball playing ability of the jungle outfit until it was too late for any get-away. J. Green, whom the Tiger sympathizers named "Patty Arbuckle" was chased from the box and his substitute, P. Breen, would have passed over the same course if the game had lasted a few more innings. The Ward 8 fighters hit both pitchers freely and fattened their batting averages so the bursting point, while their opponents went far below their usual luck with the ash stick.

The Tigers landed two earned runs in second inning when "Scotty" Palmer and Desautel captured first on a pair of singles, crossed the plate and scored. McKay and Pete Becker slammed away two safe singles. Two more earned runs were hung up to season in the fifth.

"Pete" Boulter again figured in a safety; was landed on second by Klein's sacrifice, then capped home when his little brother Joe capped a two banger. Foss obligingly laid out left field a two sacker, which scored young Joe Boulter in a handsome finish. There was nothing more doing for the Spot Cash boys until the seventh when the old Tiger got away early and then hit a home run, a heavyweight. With one man slain, Joe Boulter came into the line light with another single into right; Foss again landed a single into center; "Scotty" Palmer waited it out for four balls. With the bases occupied Desautel swung for a two banger and McKay singled. At this stage of the affair, J. Green was handed his pay envelope and P. Breen gathered up the loose reins. He stopped the slaughter with a strike out. One more rally was called when the signal was "Abe" Klein. It was a piece of military strategy as a punt was expected but Abe grabbed opportunity by the horns and sailed a long one into deep right field for three bases. The throw in home run at third was ball, so he completed the circle by hitting a home run by H. L. Drake, who had an expensive pike up for the Tiger who made the circuit.

The Pilgrims landed two scores in their third inning. Both batters were given first on passed balls. The Pilgrims base, and LaFrance's poor throw to first. Only in the eighth did a weary Pilgrim land on the third sack. This rare occurrence happened on two out with the bases full. A golden chance was handed Wood to clear the sacks but this "Old Abe" who might have led his people into the throned land, went into oblivion by a put out between Palmer and Foss.

Answer the Alarm!

Norway People Should Not Delay.

If your kidneys are inflamed, Don't stand around and do nothing. Like a fire it will soon be beyond control.

You will get the alarm in time—Backache, or dizziness or disorders of the urine.

Heed the warning. Give your kidneys a rest by living more carefully.

Use Doan's Kidney Pills to help stamp out the cause.

Profit by Norway woman's experience. Mrs. Mary Gammon, 14 Beal St., says: "I have kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand for years, in fact, ever since I first took them nearly ten years ago. The symptoms I noticed at that time indicated kidney complaint. There was a dull, heavy ache across the small of back and often attacks of dizziness came over me. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from Frank Kimball's Drug Store, proved fine in relieving me of these troubles. I take Doan's off and on now and couldn't wish for anything better to keep my kidneys in good condition.

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Gammon had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Austin-Hussey

The wedding of Dorothy E. Hussey, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hussey of Swift's Corner and Edwin G. Austin, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Austin, also of Norway took place at the Methodist parsonage, Monday, July 14th, at 8 a. m., Rev. P. A. Sullivan officiating, the single ring service being used.

The bride was very prettily gowned in navy blue silk taffeta with hat to match and carried a bouquet of crimson ramblers. At the bride's request the groom wore his U. S. uniform.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding tour to the mountains. On their return a reception was held, Saturday evening, July 26th, at the home of the bride's parents, where the happy couple will make their home.

Between seventy and eighty were in attendance, coming from all directions. The bride and groom received congratulations under the gracefully draped folds of "Old Glory." Mrs. Edna Austin, mother of the groom and Mrs. Isabelle Hussey, mother of the bride, were in the receiving line. Carl and Ralph Austin, brothers of the groom and Mrs. Olive Whitman, sister of the bride, acted as ushers.

The bride received in white silk crepe de chine, the groom wore his uniform. After a social hour refreshments of fruit punch, cake and tartlets were served. Clara and Mary Morse and Blanche Hersey acted as waitresses. A large wedding cake made by the bride's mother was very pretty, being decorated with a wreath of flowers and surmounted by the stars and stripes. This was skillfully cut by the bride.

There were many very pretty and useful presents including aluminum, silver, glass, linen, china and money. There was music on the victrola and the young people enjoyed games in the large stable across the road. Elmer Hussey, a brother of the bride, who is clerk in a summer hotel on Block Island during his summer vacation was unable to be present, much to the bride's disappointment.

He has but recently returned from over seas having been in service thirty months. He is a member of Norway grange, also of the Loyal Order of Moose. A host of friends wish them many years of happy wedded life.

Dear Advertiser:
In your paper of July 11, page 4, is a letter from Miss Isabel A. Blake of New Brunswick, N. J., concerning a parrot 47 years old, and giving illustrations of the remarkable intelligence of her favorite bird.

Miss Blake who is a much esteemed friend and correspondent of mine for many years, is a maiden daughter—the youngest—of the late Hon. Harrison Blake for about forty years a prominent lawyer largely in the counties of Cumberland and Oxford. We had six children, all born in Harrison village, of whom only two are living: Mrs. Susan Cary Blake English, wife of Dr. David C. English, and Miss Isabel Adella Blake, your correspondent.

A lengthy and very interesting genealogical sketch of the Blake families of Grinnell and Silas, who moved from Turner to Otisfield in 1808, is given in the Centennial History of Harrison, with facts of their distinguished ancestry. G. F.

Advance In Wages

About every industry throughout the country is making about fifteen per cent. advance in wages. Of course this means that we will have to pay more for everything from what we consume to what we wear. We expect to pay more for our next lot of goods that we purchase, therefore we will have to place a higher price on them, but this higher price will not go onto any goods that we have on hand at the present time. Now we say to our customers and others who are not customers that there is no better way to make good money than to BUY NOW.

Come in and we will explain the situation to you.

FRYEBURG
Gift To Fryeburg Academy
A gift of $100,000 has been made to Fryeburg Academy by Edmund G. Converse, a wealthy New York financier, who is also a director of the Liberty National bank, of which Harvey D. Gibson, formerly of Conway, and alumnus of Bowdoin and Fryeburg, is president.
In fact this liberal donation is due to the activity and interest of Mr. Gibson, who induced Mr. Converse to come to the assistance of the academy.

A single condition only is imposed, which is that $10,000 additional must be raised and already $10,000 has been pledged. Alumni of the academy are confident that they will be able to full-fill this condition.

Alterations on the school building and dormitories will be undertaken immediately as $10,000 is available unconditionally for that purpose. There are no restrictions as to the manner in which the money may be disbursed and it is planned to erect a modern school building with all apparatus and equipment that is necessary.

The student body numbers about 100 on an average and undoubtedly this will be increased to 150.

John Calvin Stevens, a Portland architect, will come to Fryeburg and from an investigation which he will then make, will draw plans for the new building.
An appeal will be made to alumni of the academy and all public spirited citizens who are able and willing to assist that the fund of $50,000 may be secured, whereby the $100,000 through the generosity of Mr. Converse will be made available.

PASSING OF JOHN FOX, JR.

John Fox, Jr., well-known novelist, has died recently, at his home at Big Stone Gap, Pa., after a brief illness of pneumonia.

John William Fox, Jr., was the author of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," "A Knight of the Cumberland" and other well-known stories. He was born in Bourbon County, Kentucky, the very heart of the Bluegrass region and his early days were spent there. At fifteen he went to Lexington and entered Kentucky (Transylvania) University, where he spent two years. From there he went to Harvard and was graduated as the youngest in his class. It is interesting to note that his collegiate life was not signalized by any literary contributions to college papers.

After graduation he spent some time on the New York Sun and later entered the Columbia Law School, but he abandoned law, after a short time, and joined the staff of the New York Times, where he remained several months, until illness compelled him to go South, where he established himself in business. It was there that he became interested in the life of the mountaineers, an interest responsible for his first book, "A Mountain Europe," the success of which led to the writing of others. Then followed "A Cumberland Vendetta" and "Hell for Sartain," the latter written in a day and a half, yet it made his reputation.

"The Kentuckians" followed.

At the outbreak of the Spanish American War Mr. Fox joined the Rough Riders, but left that organization to act as correspondent of Harper's Weekly, at the front. His experiences there furnished the material for his next novel, "Crittenden." After the war Mr. Fox returned to the South and his next stories, "Bluegrass and Rhododendron," embody his own personal experiences as a member of the police guard in Kentucky and Virginia. Other stories from his pen are "Christmas Eve on Lone some," "Following the Sun Pines," and "The Heart of the Hills." All of his novels deal with the life among the mountain peoples of the south.

Mr. Fox was married to Fritz Schaff, the singer and light opera star, in 1908, and in 1913 the prima donna obtained a divorce decree after a hearing before a referee.

Mitchell, D. D. of Buffalo, N. Y. "Rural Work and Christian Stewardship," will be the subject of a similar series of studies led by Rev. John Richards of Lebanon, N. Y. Each day will be a special day, with addresses by selected speakers appropriate to the day. OTISFIELD

Dominicus Jordan Edwards.
In the decease of Dominicus Jordan Edwards, July 16, Otisfield loses one of its oldest and most highly respected residents. A descendant of a family which for over two centuries has lived within the bounds of New England, he was known as a man of sterling character and of highest ideals; a typical product of the progressive school of his time, holding firmly to the belief that each in his chosen place must so live as to be an honor to the generation that gave him birth.

A farmer by occupation he was engaged in his early manhood in the cultivation of hops, which he continued up to 1878, when, on account of impaired health he abandoned this special branch of husbandry, but continued on a lesser scale in general farming. In 1880 he purchased and planted about two hundred apple trees which formed the nucleus for the large apple orchards now owned by his son, Forrest Lincois Edwards.

In 1883 he began the work of remodeling and enlarging the farm buildings which had been built by his father and constructed the commodious residence now existing.

Mr. Edwards retired from the active management of farm activities in 1903. However, he never ceased to take an active interest in general affairs, passing much of his time in later years in reading and in becoming conversant with current affairs and happenings of the day.

Mr. Edwards was the son of Nathaniel and Mary (Gannon) Edwards, born May 5, 1832, at Otisfield. On April 15, 1871, he married Lottie Gage, daughter of Kennedy and Jane (Crickard) Gages. He is survived by Mrs. Edwards and three sons. The latter are Capt. Llewellyn N. Edwards, Bridge Engineer, Bureau of Public Roads, Washington, D. C.; Forrest L. Edwards, Fruit grower, Otisfield, and Dr. Dayton Edwards, Prof. of Physiology, Cornell Medical College, New York City.

In tribute to his memory it may unreservedly be said that the deceased has filled life's span with earnestness of purpose, with duties thoroughly and purpose, with faithfulness performed and has passed to the shadow land of peace and rest.

DECISION RENDERED BY PUBLIC UTILITIES ON EAST SUMMER ACCIDENT

A decision was rendered July 23 by the public utilities commission in the matter of the accident which occurred at the East Summer Crossing of the Maine Central Railroad Company June 24 last which resulted in the death of Charles H. Bonney.

The decision declares that railroad crossings should not only be made clear, but kept clear, and so far as is possible every precaution should be taken to protect the traveler even from the effect of his own negligence.

The decision of the commissioners is as follows:

"Charles H. Bonney, aged 58 years, of Sumner, Me., while driving a Dodge automobile, was struck by Maine Central passenger train No. 214, on June 24, 1919 at 9:51 A. M., at East Summer Crossing, and received injuries from which he died a short time after. The East Summer crossing is located about 100 feet east of East Summer station. The highway at that point crosses the railroad main line and three side tracks in a general northerly and southerly direction at nearly a right angle to the tracks which extend in a general easterly and westerly direction.

"On the morning of the accident, Mr. Bonney approached this crossing from the north, first passing over the side tracks before coming onto the main line. When first seen, he was about 50 feet from the main line traveling at the rate of about eight or ten miles an hour. The train was coming from the east at the rate of about 15 miles per hour. The whistle had already been blown for the crossing and the bell was ringing and the air brakes had been applied preparatory for the station stop. As soon as the engineer saw the automobile he sounded the alarm whistle and applied the emergency brakes, but it was then too late to avoid the accident. The automobile was struck by the engine and carried along past the station platform a distance of about 167 feet. Mr. Bonney was picked up as soon as possible and taken immediately on the train to Buckfield the next station, where a doctor could be procured. He was unconscious and his head was badly bruised and mangled, and he died soon after reaching Buckfield without having regained consciousness.

"The evidence shows that the center of the main line to the center of the last or most northerly side track is 51 3/4 feet, and to the center of the second side track the distance is 41 1/8 feet from the main line. There is a clear view of the main line eastward a distance of more than 300 feet from a point in the highway, 150 ft. northerly from the main line. On the day of the accident, however, the second side track was occupied by four freight cars, the first of these cars being within 32 feet of the end of the highway crossing blanks. Three freight cars entirely obstructed the view of the main line easterly, until the second side track was reached, so that it was impossible for Mr. Bonney to see this train until he was within 50 feet or less of the main line crossing.

"The evidence shows that Mr. Bonney was somewhat deaf, so that he probably did not hear the train. It appears, therefore, that Mr. Bonney drove directly onto this crossing from the front of the approaching train without being able to either see or hear the train. Of course he should have stopped his car before coming onto the crossing and had he done so the accident might possibly have been avoided; but we are impressed by the fact that his view of the train was entirely shut off by these freight cars and he was therefore deprived of that element of safety and protection which he was entitled to be equal to the view of the train. He was made blind and unsafe by the position of these cars.

"An examination of these premises in the accident discloses that there is a large pile of wood in another angle of this crossing which obstructs the view of the traveler approaching from the other direction. While this obstruction did not affect the result in this accident, it might, perhaps, be a contributing cause in some other accident. These temporary obstructions, which should not have been placed there, made this crossing blind and more dangerous to public travel. It is of little use to cause these crossings to be cleared of brush and other obstructions, if they are to be equal to or more encumbered by freight cars and wood piles.

"These crossings should not only be made clear, but kept clear, and so far as is possible every precaution should be taken to protect the traveler even from the effect of his own negligence.

"We believe that if these precautions are taken, many accidents will be avoided and many human lives saved, and we cannot escape the conviction that had these obstructions been taken at East Summer crossing the sad accident that we are now considering might not have occurred."

ing game on the losers' own grounds, Saturday, July 26th. The final score was 7-6, Buckfield's erratic fielding being the main factor in their defeat. The home team started the scoring by putting across five runs in the second on four clean hits, three errors, and a base on balls. This gave them an apparently safe lead but West Paris for certain reasons of its own was particularly anxious to win this game and in the eighth finally got the lead only to see a ninth inning rally send the game into extra innings. In the eleventh the first four Buckfield men hit safely and still failed to put the much desired run over because Russell got in the way of Benson's grounder and was declared out. The next inning Billings reached first on Benson's error, stole second, went to Packard's out, and scored on Emery's perfect bunt down the first base line with what proved to be the winning run. The West Paris team, outside of the second inning, played errorless ball and although outbatted by Buckfield's bunched hits with errors for runs. This game was the second defeat of the season for the home team, the previous one also being at the hands of West Paris. The score:

FRYEBURG

Fryeburg Academy to Receive Large Endowment

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Fryeburg Academy held at Portland, Tuesday, July 22nd, very important announcements were made by Colonel Hardy B. Gibson of New York, viz. That the sum of one hundred thousand dollars as an endowment fund has been given by Edmund C. Converse of New York, director of the Liberty National Bank. This sum is contingent upon the raising of fifty thousand dollars by a financial committee of the academy, and of the latter sum thirty-four thousand dollars, it is understood, is promised. Plans were made for the improvement and renovation of the two dormitories. John Calven Stearns, the Portland architect, is now making plans for the same.

Col. Gibson also announced that he would establish four temporary scholarships, which he hoped later to make permanent, as follows: The two boys of each class who shall excel all others in the class in the same respects that govern the Gordon Brown award at Yale, the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars each, to be paid as tuition at Bowdoin College, during the Freshman and Sophomore years. To the two girls of each class who shall excel all others in the class in the same respects that govern the Gordon Brown award at Yale, the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars each, which shall be paid in the form of tuition in some higher institution of learning, which has the approval of the Board of Trustees.

The annual reunion of the Charles family will be held at the K. of P. Hall on August 27. The leading speaker will be Mrs. Elizabeth Chandler Charles of Plymouth, Mass. Mrs. Charles will speak on "Our ancestors and what we owe to them." Dinner will be served at noon. This gathering originated last year and the first assembling summed up two hundred people. EAST HEBRON

Farm Buildings Burned

The large set of farm buildings owned by Alton Keene were burned flat to the ground Tuesday morning. The cause of the fire is unknown. Mr. Keene discovered the fire at 3:30. The barn was found to be all in flames and bursting through the roof. Mrs. Whitman, Mr. Keene's sister, who lives across the road, lost a nice horse a large hog and a nice heifer, a ton of grain, 7 tons of hay, a new milk wagon and farm wagon with no insurance. Mr. Keene's loss is very heavy. The buildings were practically new with modern conveniences. The hay was about half in the barn and the cattle were out to pasture. It has been the practise on the Keene Farm for years to turn the cows out to pasture at night, which was very fortunate for everything in the barn was burned.

The furniture on the ground floor of the house was saved and also the old barn which sets about a rod north of the large barn which was burned. Help came from far and near. The loss of this set of buildings is a blow to this community as it is very doubtful if Mr. Keene will rebuild, as he has another house about a half mile from the set. Still, Mr. Keene's loss is estimated at $10,000 with only $2,800 insurance.

The barn of Ora Brown was struck by lightning July 22. It tore the inside of the barn up considerably and set the hay on fire, but prompt action on the part of Mr. Brown put out the flames.

A very heavy shower passed over this place Thursday night, blowing out telephone and striking trees.

G. L. Saunders and Joe Blanchard of Auburn were in Woodstock one day last week.

The lightning entered the house of Lizie Marshall but set nothing on fire.

BIG BARN DOOR SKETCHES

Meredith Center, N. H., July 28, 1919
The caravan arrived of a Sunday. It was a hot day. The speedometer registered 84.2 miles, whereas a year ago coming the same route on Monday the distance shown was 87.9 with the same car. How about the shrinkage of 3.7 miles? Walter says the hind tires are bigger than the ones used last year, hence the difference. I wonder if that is correct?

Henry Forrest with stone cutters tools was given "a drag" while coming through Conway. He had been working on the red granite quarry at Red Stone, but was enroute for Squam when overtaken by me. I played a mean trick on him and let him out at Chocorua Inn, thinking it was Chocorua where he was to be met by the man who had hired him to go to Squam.

He gets $5.00 for 8 hours. I told him it was too much, but he said stone cutting was awful hard work and felt that he really ought to get more but business at Red Stone was black and he was going to Squam to help "em out. He smoked one of my cigars, but felt ill at ease in his surroundings and I guess was glad to get out at the Inn and trudge along the three miles on foot. He had plenty of time to make connections with his men. He said his home was in Lowell, Mass.

A stray cat was about the premises. It would not do to call it a wild cat. That would scare the summer boarders and they are numerous in this vicinity. Lettie Smith has ten who walk the roads, fight mosquitoes and catch horn-pots. While I'm writing there are three dishes of food setting in the back barn door waiting for the cat. Milk in one, baked beans in another and pork in the third. If the cat makes its appearance I'm supposed to leave the barn and get into the house and peek out of the window with the rest of the family and see the cat eat. A visit is about due and I'll soon have to leave.

A wren—I don't know any other name for it as Mother left her bird book in Norway, has a nest under the eaves of the house. They have hatched out two broods all ready and I guess are working on the third litter as one of the birds stay on the nest all the time. They are well behaved and industrious. They sing in the morning and chirp more or less during the day.

The orioles make a terrible towse singing every now and then. I haven't found their nest as yet, but is nearby. I have seen a family of robins are here, but the barn swallows are not. I wonder why they don't come.

I've been introducing the Leavitt Economy Can handle to the trade in this vicinity. One dealer took five gross. It is looked upon as a great invention. The handle costs 5 cents each and can be readily adjusted to any tin can. All that is necessary is a board nail and just a little bit of judgement and a useless tin can becomes a serviceable dipper.

This section of the granite state revels in blueberries. The crop is good and pickers scarce. I picked 9 quarts in 9 hours for 9 cents a quart. The union price for picking is 10 cents. I do not belong to the union, hence got a less price. I expect soon to get admitted and then will receive 10 cents.

A. A. Smith pays three cents a box for picking raspberries and one of his pickers recently got $1.98 and his dinner for nine hours' work. He employs only union help. I was not permitted to pick.

Raspberries in the Weirs market sell for 20 cents per box. The producer gets 15 cents and the middleman 5 cents.

Mother is canning a year's stock of berries and is very busy. She is also making a bathing suit and sent me to the store for a silk pool of thread—black A and the saleswoman laughed when I gave the order and told me she had every color but rainbow but black. I came home empty handed. I don't see where I blundered. I gave the order exactly as it was given me as I wrote it down.

On the way to the Weirs the other morning I gave a man a ride. He was carrying a heavy market basket and I guessed he was going to the store to sell something. It developed that he was on his way to Laconia and that he had come from Moultonboro, some dozen miles distant.

The basket was filled with blueberries which he was taking to a niece who lived in the city. He was 70 years old and known to the world as Chas. H. Orne.

He said in old times way back, the family name was Horn, but some of his ancestors became disgusted with the actions of the Horn tribe in Moultonboro and dropped off the "H" and added a final "e" hence sprung the name "Orne." About the first question asked was if I knew Jim French of Moultonboro? Of course I did. No one is allowed in New Hampshire without knowledge of "Uncle Jim" and as I am a native of this state had enjoyed a personal acquaintance with him for many years which I am sorry to say has been closed by his death.

This allowed Mr. Orne to relate many of the good qualities of the late Moultonboro statesman and I enjoyed listening. He said Jim had enemies, but not in Moultonboro; there he was loved and respected by every body and was elected to the legislature year after year without a dissenting vote. Once in a while a ballot was cast against him, but it was seldom and the man who had the hardihood to vote against Jim French was either converted to see things as French saw them or was driven from town.

"He was a good man and rich and everybody loved him and Moultonboro has met with a big loss. There is no one to take his place," pathetically added Mr. Orne.

Walter took Mr. Orne and his blueberries to the home of his niece on Academy street and received a profusion of thanks for his kindness.

I wonder if Mr. Orne is any related to a Portland printer of that name who occasionally works in the Advertiser's Office. I'll ask him the next time I see him.

"Business here is good. The best I've seen it since 1914." Thus said G. S. Masseck of the Weirs, the other morning when I called. He has been in business here fourteen years or so. I'm of a notion that summer guests are more numerous about the lake country than usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Masseck are both looking fine and are in better health than when in Norway. They have closed out their store at Ayer, Mass., some months ago and have opened a store similar to the one they have at the Weirs at the lake, N. H., on the other side of the lake, which is easily reached by public boat from the Weirs.

The Masseck home presented a very different aspect than when I last called in the summer of 1917, when their son, Capt. Clifton J. Masseck was packing his army kit to go overseas or somewhere unknown to him. The Captain was discharged from service June 19th with the rank of Major. He received the Croix-de-Guerre by the French government for courage and valor displayed in service and several citations from both French and American governments. He was severely gassed at one time, but has fully recovered. He is now with the Copper Publishing Co. of Topeka, Kansas, having went there immediately after his discharge. His wife, who was Anne Danforth of Norway, and daughter, Ruth, will remain here for a while and go to Topeka later on.

I learned much of the Danforth family who left Norway some years ago. Francis A. Danforth is a full fledged registered pharmacist and living in St. Louis. He married a southern girl and has a son four years old called Francis and a two year old daughter, Dorothy.

Dr. Walter J. Avery, formerly of Laconia, N. H., married Sara Danforth of Norway. He was discharged from the navy last April as Senior Lieutenant, has settled in Fresno, California, to practice medicine.

Dr. Chas. H. Danforth of the Washington University of St. Louis, is doing research work for the government at Cold Springs, Long Island, N. Y. His family are to stop for a while in the Shackley cottage on Pike Hill in Norway. The doctor will be with them a portion of the time. They have two sons, Charles, four, and Alan one and a half years old.

I frightened a girl clerk at the Court House speechless the other day when she attempted to roll up a blank deed I had bought. All she could say was "5 cents, sir." I suppose I should have allowed her to have rolled up the deed and then asked for another sheet of paper to be rolled up into the waste basket.

That is what I ought to have done, but didn't. I badly belittled out my contempt for rolled-up paper and in so doing scared the poor girl out of a year's growth. Nothing throws me out of gear so completely as a sheet of rolled-up paper.

Am sorry I lost my manners and beg forgiveness, but I could not stand mute by and see a sheet of good paper so tortured especially when I had to use it. No doubt she thinks me crazy but of all the abominable rolled-up paper is the worst.

Ed. Thompson swore Walter and I. We took our hats off and raised our right hands and looked the Clerk of Court of Belknap County square in the face and told him the declaration made was true. Eight dollars and fifty cents accompanied the affidavit and in due time I expect to get license to go over the roads in this state.

Why all this fuss and feathers? It seems unnecessarily foolish. But what can you expect of a state that has two gold breasted and headed uniformed Adjutant Generals and are seriously thinking about convening the legislature in harvest time to determine which one shall accompany the Governor in his daily walks.

I see a partial decision has been made in the N. & P. Street Railway problem. It isn't what I had hoped for. The P. U. Commission lack authority or if having authority choose not to use it. In the mean time the citizens of the two villages suffer and for what? That a dividend can be paid on three times the actual investment. That is all there is to it. Can it be corrected? Who dare say?

Registered Jerseys

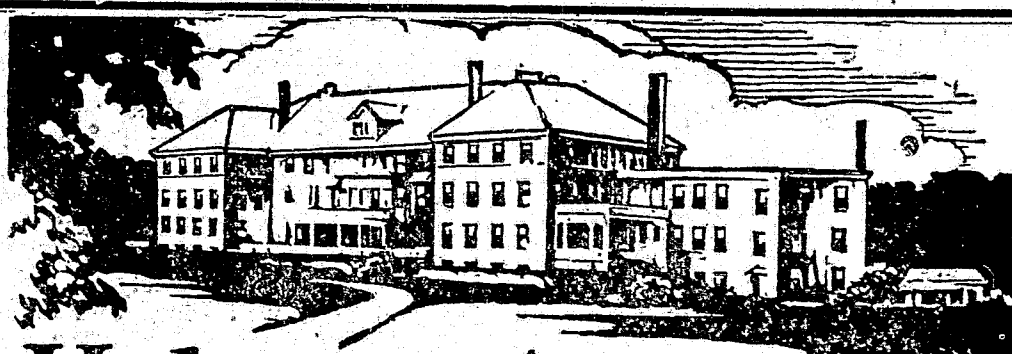

Curtis Chapman is very proud of a bull calf dropped recently by his Jersey cow, Princess, of Kezar Falls, and sired by his bull Pogs 99th of Hood Farm 41st. Besides being a healthy, well-built little fellow, which makes his owner proud of him, he is the great grandson by his sire of the famous Sophie 19th of Hood Farm and great grandson of Mabel's Poet on his dam's side. Mabel's Poet was an island bred bull imported with 20 other Jerseys by J. L. Robinson, Asplen Jersey Farm of South Windham. Mr. Chapman has two registered heifers sired by Pogs 99th of Hood Farm 41st, besides a few grade heifers. He is trying to have his entire herd made up of registered Jerseys and hopes in a few years more to accomplish his desire.

The remains of Mrs. Mary Durgin, who passed away at the home of her niece, Mrs. Lindo Chapman, Somerville, Mass., were brought to Kezar Falls, Saturday. Prayers were held at the home of her sister, Mrs. Nelson Shaw, and the remains were buried at the Lord burying ground.

Mr. and Mrs. John Quint entertained a few relatives from Massachusetts over Saturday and Sunday. The party made the trip by auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Weeks and two children have moved onto their farm, known as the David A. Colcord farm, where they will live while cutting the hay on that place.

Mrs. Bertha Atherton and Mrs. May Chapman are stopping with Oliver Chapman for a week.
